Brand New Book  Print on Demand .Excerpt from Rambles About Historic Brooklyn In Presenting Rambles about Historic Brooklyn, no attempt has been made by the Brooklyn Trust Company to give a complete list of places of historic interest, but rather to glean here and there stories of interesting landmarks, both past and present. The Rambler wandered via trolley and motor and on foot from one point to another, guided by his own will and the lure of century-old traditions and localities. His data have been made as nearly historically correct as the reminiscences of residents, the legends and traditions that come down from generation to generation, and the various histories of Brooklyn, New York, and Long Island, allow. The book is designed not only for the residents of the Borough of Brooklyn, but also for strangers who may come here, interested in the many historic points of which we may justly boast. For Brooklyn has contributed to the history of the United States her share of tradition and romance, of thrilling incident and battle-scene; and from the lore of sage and poet, of historian and scholar, of student and antiquary, these rambles have been reinforced, with the intent to present this city in the light of a modern Mecca for those interested in historic landmarks and valued associations. The author desires to acknowledge valuable assistance given by Miss Emma Toedteberg, Miss Isabel Beers, and Miss Edna A. Rupp, of the Long Island Historical Society; Mrs. William Sloane Kennedy; Mr. Daniel M. Treadwell; Judge Charles C. Suffren; Mr. Charles S. Stratton, engineer in the office of the president, Borough of Brooklyn; Dr. Willis Boughton and Mr. Allen B. Doggett, of Erasmus Hall High School;...
