General Accounting Office, 2003 OCLC Number: (OCoLC)52862245 Subject: Tax collection -- United States. Excerpt: . . . the nonfiler program to pursue unfiled tax returns that should have been 10 filed. The IRC also establishes more rules governing IRSs contacts with individual taxpayers under the audit program than it does for the math error, document matching, and nonfiler programs. These rules give IRS significant powers to obtain information needed to determine an individuals tax liabilities when doing an audit and, in turn, places restrictions on the use of those powers. If resolving issues raised under the other enforcement programs requires that IRS auditors become involved, the contacts with taxpayers become audits subject to these greater powers and restrictions. For example, if a taxpayer who receives a math error notice files a claim for IRS to abate the tax assessment, IRS could audit that claim. Similarly, if a taxpayer responds to a document matching notice with materials that cannot be readily and immediately used to settle the discrepancy, the case could be referred to audit staff. The greater powers that IRS has under audit compared with the other programs include the authority to examine books and records and take testimony for purposes of determining the tax liability of a tax return. IRS also has the power to use a summons to compel taxpayers and third parties to provide books and records, and to enter premises to examine 11 objects subject to taxation. Given these greater powers, the law also places more restrictions on 12 audits to protect taxpayer rights. For example, the law restricts IRS from doing unnecessary audits or generally doing more than one inspection of taxpayers books...
